MR. O'GRADY ASSAULTED. Well-Known Fulton Man Struck on Hip with Stone.

On Filp With Stone.

Mr. James E. O'Grady, of 495 Denny Street, Fulton, was struck by a cobblestone hurled by some unknown hand seen after 11 o'clock Wednesday night, and badly injured. He was knocked down by the first missile, and a second was thrown at him, but, fortunately for him, it missed its mark. Who the assaliant was or what was the motive which inspired him to make the assault Mr. O'Grady could not say, in the darkness he was able to recognize his assaliant only very indistinct the night, and, although many citizens of Fulton tried to trace him, no clue as to his identity could be discovered.
